1. A Soviet military installation is located close to the southern border of the derelict village of Neplecken. The installation is not fenced in. 25X1
 not know the purpose of the installation; however, it is permanently occupied by 20 to 25 Soviet NCOs and men and is regularly patrolled, as a rule, by three men and a dog, which were observed coming from the direction of Payse.
2. The installation was often visited by two or three Soviet officers, who came by car by the newly built brick road from the direction of the Blumenau railroad station. Sometimes, in addition to the officers, there was a truck with 12 to 15 soldiers. These visits always occurred when small warships, apparently gunboats, entered the Fischhausen Bay. This happened on three occasions in autumn 1951.
3. There are no landmarks in the vicinity of the installation. No electric power station or electric wires were observed.
4. The Primorsk (Fischhausen)-Neplecken road is no longer in use and the bridge over the Forkensches Fliess, 15 m wide and fast flowing, has been dismantled.
5. The Blumenau railroad station is located on the single-track Primorsk-Kaliningrad line.

- 1-3: Cement-coated stone buildings with flat roofs. Dimensions: 8-10 m long, 4-5 m wide, and 3 m high.
- 1a: A rotatable range finder (Entfernung messer), known 25X1 as "Basis-geraet", at least three meters long, mounted on the roof. Height of the mounting is about 80 cm. No windows were observed in the building, which is surrounded by an earthen rampart about two m high and has a door on its east side.
- 2a: A mast about two to three meters high with a star-shaped aerial. This building is about 50 m southeast of No. 1. and is exactly like it.
- 3a: A mast with an aerial similar to 2a. This building is about 50 m northeast of No. 1 and 80 m NE of No. 2. It has no rampart; N and S sides have 2 windows each
